Evidence of the Crusader Campaign

By Shaykh Nasir al-Fahd¹

When the events of September 11th took place in America, from day one, those in authority there immediately accused [some of the Muslimin] of being behind the actions. Before the investigations were completed, they began to prepare for their general crusader campaign in order to finish off Islam under the name: “The War Against Terrorism,” and despite their clear and obvious targeting of Islam in this campaign, there are some from the naïve ones or hypocrites who may delude and deceive with their words.

Therefore, I shall mention in the following section clear-cut and irrefutable proofs that prove that this The evidences that I shall mention are divided into two categories:

Category One: General Evidences

Category Two: Specific Evidences

¹ Excerpt from his book The Exposition Regarding the Disbelief of the One That Assists the Americans.

As for the First Category: the general evidences, they are from the Shari‘ah and the current affairs.

As for what is from the Shari‘ah: Allah (ta‘ala) clearly declared the enmity of the disbelievers towards the Muslimin and that they will not cease fighting them until they are able to cause them to turn away from their din and that they will not be pleased except with the Muslimin entering into their way and that their enmity will never cease. He (ta‘ala), “And al-fitnah is worse than killing. And they will never cease fighting you until they turn you back from your way, if they can.”

He (ta‘ala) said, “Never will the Jews nor the Christians be pleased with you till you follow their way.”

He (ta‘ala) said, “They wish that you disbelieve, as they have disbelieved, and thus that you all become equal.”

He (ta‘ala) said, “Should they gain the upper hand over you, they would behave to you as enemies, and stretch forth their hands and their tongues against you with evil, and they desire that you should disbelieve.”

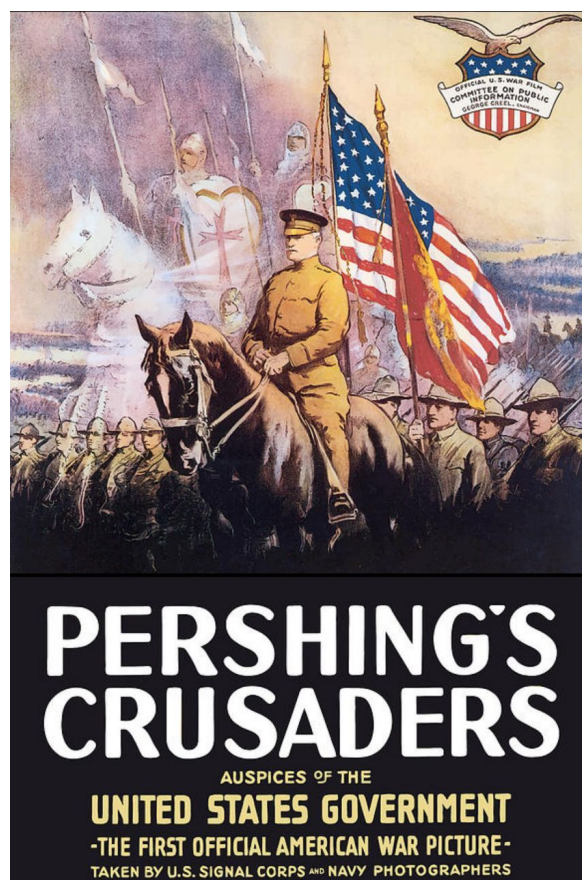

He (ta‘ala) said, “Many of the People of the Book wish that if they could turn you away as disbelievers after you have believed, out of envy from their own selves, even, after the truth has become manifest unto them.”

He (ta‘ala) said, “O you who believe! If you obey a group of those who were given the Scripture, they would (indeed) render you disbelievers after you have believed!”

He (ta‘ala) said, “O you who believe! If you obey those who disbelieve, they will send you back on your heels, and you will turn back as losers.”

He (ta‘ala) said, “Hatred has already appeared from their mouths, but what their breasts conceal is far worse.”

As far as the Current Affairs

The one who follows and observes both ancient and modern history will find that the enmity of the kuffar, from the Jews and Christian and others has never ceased being directed towards the Muslimin. In the past generations, the Christians have waged seven crusader campaigns and after these campaigns finished they were followed up with the colonial imperialist campaign wherein they occupied most of the Muslim lands for numerous years and sowed corruption inside. After those modern crusading campaigns (or Isti'mar as they wrongly name it for in reality it is destruction and demolishment), the “nations” campaign began under the auspices of the “United Nations” whereby they struck the Muslimin everywhere and placed embargoes upon them – all in compliance with the resolutions of the United Nations. They struck 'Iraq and placed an embargo upon it for more than ten years and destroyed the crops and offspring.

Israel has developed the lands of Palestine and in the process destroyed thousands of Muslimin. On a similar note is what they did in Sudan, Libya, Lebanon, Somalia, Afghanistan, Bosnia, Kosovo, Macedonia, Chechnya, Kashmīr, Futani, Timor, the Malaku Islands, and other lands of the Muslimīn. They expelled and killed millions of them. All of this is besides the missionary campaigns that their churches wage against the lands of the Muslimin. They will never hold back their enmity towards the Muslimin ever and their filth, even if it decreases on occasion, shall never disappear.

As for the Second Category: the specific evidences.

There are a group of evidences that this campaign is in reality a crusader campaign against Islam. From these evidences:

1) The President of America declared with his tongue in a press conference that this is a “Crusade” (6/28/1422). They attempted to apologize for this word but it was too late.

“Hatred has already appeared from their mouths, but what their breasts conceal is far worse.”

2) What Bush mentioned was also stated by the gray haired ones of Britain, Thatcher, and the Prime Minister of Italy, Berlusconi, and this occurred only days after the event. They spoke against Islam and not against the so-called terrorists. The actual words of Berlusconi were: “We must be aware of the superiority of our civilization, a system that has guaranteed well-being, respect for human rights and – in contrast with Islamic countries – respect for religious and political rights, a system that has as its values understandings of diversity and tolerance. The West will continue to conquer peoples, like it conquered Communism, even if it means a confrontation with another civilization, the Islamic one, stuck where it was 1,400 years ago.”

As long as the campaign is directed against terrorism and Islam encourages terrorism, the results are obvious!

3) In front of the congress after the events, Bush delivered a speech that lasted 34 minutes. Clapping and applause interrupted him during this speech 29 times. In this speech he spoke of the battle against terrorism where in realty his speech was directed against Islam for he spoke against the Shari‘ah that the Taliban implemented and not against the Taliban themselves. He mentioned them preventing people from cutting their beards and forcing the hijab and preventing music, singing, and dancing and so on. All of this is from the teachings of Islam and the Shari'ah of the Prophet Muhammad ibn 'Abdillah (sallallahu 'alayhi wa sallam) and not the shari'ah of al-Mulla Muhammad 'Umar, therefore the Taliban is not alone in it!

4) From the expressions that are employed by Bush and his customers in this war are those found in the Torah (Old Testament) such as: "the battle against evil," "the battle between good and evil," "the war of the righteous against the wicked," and other such expressions.

5) The American and Western people began to impose difficulties and hardships upon the Muslimin. Some of them were killed while some were beaten and yet others were harmed. Some masajid were attacked by arson and so on. All of this is with the knowledge that none of them had any part in these events, nay, it is the "terrorists" that they claim are in the caves of Afghanistan. However, all of them (the Muslimin) share in the quality: Islam. This is also how their government has behaved as well for they have implemented mass imprisonment of hundreds of Muslimin.

6) The American journalists and others have clearly declared that this is a war against Islam. From them, David Selborne in what he wrote under the title: "This is Not a War Against Terrorism, It is a War Against Islam." And the National Review under the title: "This is War." From what was stated in this article: "The nation has been invaded by a fanatical, murderous cult. We should invade their countries, kill their leaders and convert them to Christianity. We weren't punctilious about locating and punishing only Hitler and his top officers. We carpet-bombed German cities; we killed civilians. That's war. And this is war."

Another example is what appeared in the cover article of the weekly magazine that is produced by the New York Times, issue number 7/10/2001 wherein it states: "It is a religious war" in six pages and the shortened title on the cover says: "Who Says That It is Not About Religion?" This long article was written by Andrew Sullivan and he mentioned that this is a religious war. Certainly, the articles like this are many.

7) America declared its goals in the first campaign in twenty-seven goals, and all of them are against Islam!

8) It mentioned that the countries that support terrorism are sixty in number. The number of Islamic countries is fifty-six, so if you were to add to it the countries that have Islamic jihad movements such as Philippines, Macedonia, and others, it reaches sixty countries!

9) They declared that their strike against Afghanistan is only a small portion of their far-reaching war against terrorism. From this is what Richard Myers, the head of the coalition forces on Sunday, declared 8/5/1422H coinciding with 10/22/2001 wherein he responded to a question that was asked by the ABC station which inquired if there were any other goals besides Afghanistan. He stated: "This is a global war on terrorism and weapons of mass destruction. So Afghanistan is only one small piece. So of course we're thinking very broadly. I would say since World War II we haven't thought this broadly about a campaign..."

10) They claim that their target is "terrorism" and they claim that the organizations that they have selected are "terrorist movements."

The question that becomes clear in this evidence is: Why did they leave the other terrorist movements such as:

- a) The Japanese Red Army Faction (Idol Worshippers)
- b) The Irish Republican Army (Catholics)
- c) The Cuban Liberation Army (Communists)

d) The Radical Right-Wing Christians in America (Protestants)

e) The Drug Barons in South America

f) The Mafia in Europe

As well as others?

No doubt the answer is clear and that is they have only left them because of the absence of the sought after shared quality in this campaign which is Islam.

11) They mentioned Islamic movements that are fighting foreign occupation such as the Kashmiri mujahidun that are fighting the slaves of cows and the mujahidun of the Philippines that are fighting the Christians – they consider them terrorist movements.

The question that becomes clear from this evidence is: If independence groups are from terrorism then why did they leave off:

- a) The Tamils in Sri Lanka (Idol Worshippers)
- b) The Christian army led by (John) Garang in southern Sudan (Christians)
- c) The Irish Republican Army in Britain (Christians)

As well as other groups?

The answer to this is clear it is that all of these groups are missing the one sought after quality and that is Islam.

12) In this campaign of theirs they have gathered all of the Atlantic treaty nations (NATO) along with Russia, China, Japan, Korea, India, and other countries. Some of them participated though financing while others through support operations, others through political support, some with military bases and some with military assistance – America has even gathered over one third of its military power in this campaign.

The question that becomes clear through this evidence is: Does the apprehension of one man or the defeat of one country that is from the poorest of countries and from the most backward in terms of economic and military development need this entire gathering of forces? The obvious answer for everyone of intellect is: What is truly behind this gathering of forces is much more than the mere apprehension of one man or defeat of a nation; it is in fact a apprehending against every Islamic country or Islamic movement or Islamic jihad movement in any place of the Muslimin

13) Ever since the fall of the Soviet Union and the end of the so-called “Cold War,” the West has taken Islam as their prime enemy. In fact, many of their leaders have declared this and numerous books have been authored on this. From them the book America and Political Islam, A Clash of Civilizations or Conflict of Interests? by Fawaz Jarjus. Likewise the book of Nixon Victory Without War in which he said: “And in the Islamic world from Morocco to Indonesia, Islamic fundamentalism has taken the place of communism in terms of what is considered the primary course of violent change.” The former General Secretary of the Northern Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) stated in one of their meetings in the year 1412H after the fall of the Soviet Union: “After the end of the cold war and fall of the red enemy, the Northern Atlantic Treaty nations and all of the nations of Europe must forget their differences between them and focus their vision on what is in front of them in order to see an enemy that is lying in wait for it that must be dealt with on a united front and that is Islamic fundamentalism.”

The Russian Christian Orthodox President Putin said in the last meeting with the Commonwealth Nations in the year 1421H: “Islamic Fundamentalism is the sole danger that threatens the modern world today and it is the sole danger that threatens world peace and security. The fundamentalists have strength and they are racing to establish a unified country that stretches from the Philippines to Kosovo. They proceed out from Afghanistan, which is considered the base of their movements so if the world does not hasten to deal with them they will certainly attain their goals. Russia needs world support in order to fight fundamentalism in the southern Caucasus region.”

14) Many of the politicians of America believe in a great world battle (Armageddon) which, according to their claim, is a great battle between the forces of “good” (Christians) and the forces of “evil.” From the staunchest of them in this belief is the current minister of defense Rumsfeld. For more details concerning their words, see: The Religious Dimensions of the Crusader Campaign of Bush against the Islamic World and its Relations to the Plan for a Greater Israel by Yusuf Tawil

These are some evidences and what I have left out is more than what I have mentioned, therefore, whoever desires more detail, let him go back to the book of Tawil and the book The Reality of the New Crusader Campaign by Salahuddin al-Ayyubi.

What is Russia Up To in the Middle East?

بسم الله الرحمن الرحيم

All praise belongs to Allah, the Lord of creation. And may the salah and salam [of Allah] be upon the Messenger of Allah. As for what follows...

Allah (ta'ala) said, “Those who believe fight for the sake of Allah, and those who disbelieve fight for the sake of the taghut.”

What is Russia up to in the Middle East?

Such was the title of a short book written some months ago² by an expert in Russian affairs. To know and keep up with the realities of the world and why your enemies move the way they do is essential in today's time just as it was in the past. Possibly in the days of the Prophet (sallallahu 'alayhi wa sallam) it was not as easy to know and it took much more effort to gain access to what your enemy was thinking and planning but today they write books on such, and all praise belongs to Allah.

The author starts with mentioning that imperial Russia is fully aware of its heritage and history, that being it sees itself as a continuation of Rome (a “Third Rome” said by the author). Driven by the desire of greed imperial Russia is no newcomer to the Middle East and the eastern part of the Mediterranean (where the pagan religion of Christianity was received by them). With the decline of the pagan state of the Ottomans, the pagan empires of Europe and Russia then began to fight over what was left and for claiming the authoritative right of the protector of the pagan Christians.

The “Great Game” as it is referred to then plays out between Russia and Britain for the goods of this worldly life. Points noted through reading the history and the history of all pagan empires is what drives them is their lustful pursuit of the world’s treasure and for spreading corruption. In complete contrast to this is the noble driving force in which the believing slaves of Allah wage war for (from the kingdom of Sulayman to the state founded by the final Prophet).

Allah (ta’ala) said, “Those who believe fight for the cause of Allah, and those who disbelieve fight for the cause of the taghut.” Such manifests itself in the history of the believers and in the history the ignorant pagan disbelievers.

The author continues in mentioning the imperial nature of Russia through its history and comes to the cold war and its war in Afghanistan. The fall of the previous regime in Iran and the rise of the Rafidah in Iran cut America from the region for the time and Russia seeking to capitalize on this sought to invade Afghanistan in which its communist allies who were ruling were feeling pressure from its opponents. Imperial Russia invaded and what ensued is known. The pagans of imperial Russia got a first hand taste of how it feels to fight the mujahidin (as they had previously fought the pagan Ottomans) on the ground and the no-border mindset that captures the hearts of the Muslimin.

In the words of the author, “Russians learned to appreciate the resilience of Muslim guerillas, the vitality and consolidating power of Islam... The ‘Afghan syndrome’ commanded Moscow to never again seek to impose one's ideology and one's rule on a Muslim country."

Another point that comes to light when reading this and other works is the parroting the pagan disbelievers implore in writing about the Muslim who fights. Every pagan empire fights and when documenting this no mention of "radical" or "extremist" comes into play. However, as soon as Islam and the Muslim is mentioned, these parrots who can not use their own intellect and thoughts, calls fighting for the sake of Allah (and this is only in reference to the jihad of defending the lands) "radical Islam" or "radicalization." The Muslim who fights the imperial empires who want nothing other to corrupt him, his family, the world, and to plunder the wealth that he has rights over is a "radical extremist" to these ignorant pagans. May Allah fight them, how are they so deluded?

Thirty months after imperial Russia pulled out of Afghanistan, having been exhausted and bled to death by the grace of Allah, their empire, influence, and prestige crumbled and they then saw the mujahidin with a lighter complexion closer to their doorsteps in Chechnya, which kept them occupied closer to home.

Then the author goes on to explain the history of the not-so allied alliances in the Middle East between imperial Russia and the apostate Egyptian, Syrian, and Iraqi regimes. As well, highlighting the petty feuds between the apostate regimes and the Jews in the blessed lands of Sham. The Gulf War erupted and the influence that imperial Russia once had was now seen as gone and the new player was America with its plan of a "New World Order" in which there was only one "super power."

The collapse of the Soviet Union (meaning communism) and the jihad that arose in Chechnya further pulled imperial Russia from the world scene, and the Middle East vanished from their political thoughts and ambitions.

After the blessed raids in Manhattan by the brave and oppressed brothers, imperial Russia aligned with the taghut Bush in the Middle East in an unprecedented way. This was a strategic move on their part as the mujahidin had been waging a bloody war against the pagan empire of Russia for some time, and they needed assistance. Allah (ta'ala) said, "Those who disbelieve are allies of one another." Though, the taghut Bush ignored imperial Russia's call for help in fighting the mujahidin on their borders.

The religion of disbelief is one, and this is known. Whatever difference the warring sects of disbelief have will vanish when it comes to fighting and combating the truth. Their hatred for the truth unites them. They will be overcome.

The thought of another crusade proposed by the wealthy evangelicals and supported by the Jews pushed the taghut Bush to invade Iraq and usher in a new era. This move was opposed by imperial Russia alongside others but they had no meaningful influence to do anything to stop it and made them view America as a dangerous rogue state. Russian officials are correct in their assessment that the invasion has been a prime source for the conflicts in the region still being felt today.

How could one disagree? America and her allies did not achieve any of their printed objectives (the unprinted objectives being to wage a crusade against Islam and its people in the heart of the Muslim world, steal its wealth, and to usher in their false messiah), it was the means to the rise of jihad throughout the globe, to the re-establishment of the prophetic Khilafah, and for the truth to become manifest; establishing the hujjah further on all of creation. Allah (ta'ala) said, "Indeed, those who disbelieve spend their wealth to avert [people] from the way of Allah. So they will spend it; then it will be for them a [source of] regret; then they will be overcome. And those who have disbelieved - unto Hell they will be gathered."

Moving forward some years one comes to the Arab spring where imperial Russia's focus was on the support the "revolutionaries" were getting from America and the West. Taken as a scheme stirred up from America to further consolidate its influence in the region, imperial Russia also feared the flames that ignited in the Arab world would engulf them closer to home in Central Asia to the North Caucasus; they feared the rise of Islam contrary to the rise of pagan democratic states. The events (including a failed co-op in Libya) then led imperial Russia to view America as losing control and influence and merely a reactor to events. Fast forward to the war in Sham and the fears of the pagan imperial empire of the "third Rome" were blossoming.

The War in Sham

The Nusayriyyah regime was not a strong and close ally to imperial Russia and no where close to what it may have once been. Nevertheless, imperial Russia saw this and the current landscape of world politics as an opportunity and a springboard to a come-back to the world stage.

After the pagan apostate Bashar used chemical weapons against innocent people once again and crossed the “red-line” of the taghut Obama, and with the taghut called out on his bluff of striking if crossed, imperial Russia jumped at the opportunity to strike a deal. For the first time in years imperial Russia was at even tables with the new Rome, America.

With the flames of jihad engulfing the lands, and the rise of the Islamic State in Khurasan, imperial Russia started to feel its heat. The indecisiveness of America, the driving force of greed, and the threat of Islam all led imperial Russia to take a dive into Sham and entangle itself once again with the mujahidin. Although, they had learnt their lesson in Afghanistan and restricted this battle to the air.

While the author names the chapter “war” it is puzzling how he does not call the attacks of imperial Russia as “terrorism” or that they are “radicals” for invading another land and killing people, but when the mujahidin strike back (and all of this is defensive jihad not offensive) then all of sudden the former terms are used. Instead, when the topic of imperial Russia killing innocent people and destroying their homes the author uses the phrase “any war is a cruel thing” in order to justify and downplay the death of innocent people!

To the pagans, it is as if when a pagan group fights for its own greed it is justified and the atrocities that ensue from it are overlooked, but when a believing group of people fight based on a divinely ordained creed and defends itself, this is in no way justifiable. The hypocrisy and backwardness is staggering.

Conclusion

Imperial Russia does not care too much for Bashar and its move into the region is not for his sake. It is not just a return to a certain region but an attempt to comeback into the global arena after a long extended absence, seeking to change the swing of power from the new Rome (America) dominating it to more of a balance of power, and to stop the spread and influence of the Muslimin. What they do not know is that while they are planning to seek a revival, Allah is setting them up, dragging the crusading nation states into one battlefield, a prelude to their ultimate destruction and defeat. “They are but planning, but Allah plans. And Allah is the best of planners.”

And Allah (ta‘ala) knows best. May Allah send salah and salam upon our prophet Muhammad, his family, and his companions. And we end by saying that all praise belongs to Allah, the Lord of creation.

Why are the Regimes Who Claim Islam Kuffar?

By Shaykh Faris az-Zahrani³

Verily, the tawaghit who rule in the heart of the ummah in the Arabian peninsula are disbelieving apostates.

- (1) Disbelievers for not ruling by what Allah revealed.
- (2) Disbelievers for seeking judgements from the laws of kufr taghutiyyah and the fabricated man-made laws instead of the legislation of Allah.
- (3) Disbelievers because they make laws themselves for general legislation that [attempt] to rival the legislation of Allah (ta'ala).
- (4) Disbelievers because they attribute to themselves many of the qualities of ilahiyyah.
- (5) Disbelievers because they make what is halal haram and what is haram halal.
- (6) Disbelievers because they wage war against Allah, His messenger, and the believers.

³ Taken from his Risalah ila al-'Askar.

(7) Disbelievers for preventing people from the Din of Allah (ta'ala), from tawhid, and from iman.

(8) Disbelievers for hating what Allah revealed.

(9) Disbelievers because they mock matters from the Din of Allah and His allies.

(10) Disbelievers because they permit and approve of major shirk, do not [attempt] to change it, and do not allow it to be changed. A close example of that is what takes place in al-Madinah an-Nabawiyyah from the impure Rafidah.

(11) Disbelievers because they have allied with the enemies of the ummah from the Jews, Christians, and apostates.

Thus they are kuffar apostates for all of that. No one doubts their kufr except one whom Allah has obliterated their vision and foresight.
